4.1. Security of Liabilities

- 4.1.1. The Bank can secure its receivables by immovable and movable assets or titles (including receivables) and other property, such as residential and non-residential premises (hereinafter also the "Security") to the extent that it is allowed under the applicable regulations or it is feasible as to the nature or purpose of the object to be used as the Security.
- 4.1.2. The Bank is entitled to request the Client or the Securing Party to replenish or increase the Security or provide further Security in case the Security, upon discretion or detection of the Bank, has been decreased, or damaged or discharged.
- 4.1.3. The Security provided by the Client as a debtor to the Bank shall, even without explicit amendments to that effect in the agreements concerning the Security, cover any past, present and future Bank receivables from the Client as a debtor (e.g. receivables arising from all types of loans, guarantees, discounted or accepted bills of exchange, written documents of credit or any other Bank receivables arising from any contractual relationships between the Bank and the Client as a debtor).
- 4.1.4. Even without explicit amendments to that effect, the Security covers also such Bank receivables that shall have arisen or shall arise to the Bank from the Client as a debtor from a contractual relationship that becomes null and void or shall be deemed illegal.
- 4.1.5. Any costs and expenditures associated with the Security (e.g. storage and safekeeping costs that shall arise in relation to insurance, brokerage fees, expenditures related to recovery of receivables from the Client or the Securing Party, taxes or other charges associated with taxation or acceptance of relevant Security, etc.) shall be borne by the Client or the Securing Party. In case the Bank has paid such costs or expenditures instead of the Client or the Securing Party, these become a part of other amounts due and payable of thus secured Bank receivable. The Security thus covers not only the very Bank receivable but also other amounts due and payable of the Bank receivable.

- 4.1.6. In case any of the outstanding Bank receivables are not satisfied, the Bank is entitled to satisfy such receivables by debiting the Account held by the Client or the Party Securing such an unsatisfied receivable.
- 4.1.7. If any of the receivables of the Bank secured by a multiple Security is not satisfied in a regular and timely manner, the Bank is entitled to use any part thereof until the outstanding receivable is fully satisfied, unless specified otherwise in the applicable contract. The Bank shall then notify the Securing Party of the place, time and method for the receivable satisfaction.
- 4.1.8. The Securing Party shall be liable for protection and maintenance of the Security, and notify the Bank without undue delay of any change in the value of the Security. In case the Security is a receivable, the Securing Party shall exercise such a receivable in a regular and timely manner.
- 4.1.9. The security of the Bank receivable is effective in its original scope as to its quality and quantity until the secured receivable is fully satisfied. The Bank can, in case the Client or Securing Party requests so, release the Security or any part thereof before the receivable is fully satisfied, if at its own discretion the Bank deems this Security or any part thereof redundant.
