VIII. CHARGING PRINCIPLES

- Service Package or account maintenance charges, transaction and statement charges (with service packages, only for transactions and statements above the service package limit) are debited from the account with service package, as well as from the account without service package at the end of a calendar month.
- Charges for executed transactions and statements generated in the account of the client on the last banking working day of a month are charged in the following calendar month.
- The client always pays the full the charge for service package and Transaction modul regardless of services included in the package the client actually used.

4. Monitored period is a period after the last day of the previous month until the day before the last day of the current month. However, if the last day of the month falls on a Sunday or a public holiday, monitored period shall be:
 - a) for the current month – a period after the last day of the previous month until the day preceding the day before the last day of the current month
 - b) for the month that follows – a period after the day preceding the day before the last day of the previous month until the day before the last day of this month.
5. Charges for account statements are charged depending on the way of sending the statement applicable at the time of statement issue. If the client asks for change of the way of sending the account statements, the charge for newly selected way of sending the account statement is charged first at the end of the calendar month in which the statement was issued after the change for the first time.
6. For purposes of clearing deposit fee, a third person is a person who is not specified in the signature specimen for the account the deposit is made to, defined in the group M (account owner), D (person authorised to handle funds), V (depositor) or K (courier) under the General Commercial Terms and Conditions of Tatra banka, a. s.
7. A third party (hereinafter also referred to as the “TPP”) means all or any of the parties providing the payment services like AISP, CISP, PISP as defined in the General Commercial Terms and Conditions of Tatra banka, a.s.
8. For transactions executed by means of a TPP, the same charging principles shall be applied as for transactions provided via Internet banking^{TB} and Internet banking^{TB} for mobile devices.
9. B-mail is a notification message for a client with information about payment transactions on the current account, the Saving account or the card account sent by the bank at the time of their execution in the form of text messages, PUSH notifications in the mobile application through which the client uses Internet banking^{TB} service for mobile devices or by e-mail sent by the bank beyond standard client information through a statement of that account and an overview of payment transactions in an electronic communications media environment. B-mail and b-mail sending criteria are set and/or changed by the client and authorised person in the Internet banking^{TB} or mobile application through which the client or authorised person use Internet banking^{TB} service for mobile devices. The bank does not send a b-mail for payment transactions where, at the time of the payment transaction, it does not have sufficient information from other payment service providers (such as a payment transaction made by a payment/debit card or a credit card not preceded by the online authorisation of the payment transaction by the bank, etc.).
10. Non-used services included in packages or Transaction modul are non-refundable and cannot be transferred to the next calendar month.
11. First the transaction value of the current service package and then the Transaction Module is applied for the executed automated transactions in the respective charging period.
